Editor,
CITY OF MILWAUKEE.

John Van Buren writes to the Chicago Tribune, that he does not think the extra which we published on the day of his speech, contained the following extract from his speech in full, or in part, or it would not have contained it, and also, that he "never intended the sentiment it conveys." This is the extract:

"If I ever vote for, or advocate the election of a man to office, holding views opposed to the doctrine of the Buffalo Platform, my right hand forgets its cunning, and my tongue cleaves to the roof of my mouth." And my man holding contrary views, and living at the North, ought to be perpetually damned!"

We can relieve Mr. Van Buren's mind, on but these points. We found two editions of extracts—the first did not contain the extract and accompanying paragraph, because they were not set up, and but few of these were circulated, and only in East Water street, and in the neighborhood of our office. As soon as the whole was set, they were struck off, and our prospectus, and sent in large numbers up to the place of printing. The extract was placed in the middle of the slip, because that was the appropriate place for it, and the place we intended it to occupy in our regular edition. John probably—and we regret it—got the first edition, though we took pains to send only the second edition into John's hands. Had he denied the statement on the stand, there were some on the ground who would have confirmed our statement.

Mr. S. Bishop, a well known lawyer, states that he heard John Van Buren, at Buffalo, the words contained in that extract or words of like import, and Mr. T. R. B. Eldredge, Cashier of the Milwaukee Bank also stated on the ground that day, and states now, that he heard John Van Buren utter the sentiments of that extract. The credibility of our witnesses is unimpeachable. We recollect reading a report of John's speech to the same purpose. Were John a sober-minded man, and never in the habit of uttering on the stand a sentiment that he did not believe, his disclaimer might have some weight. But John was either a hypocrite in 1848, or is now acting a lie, and the denial of a man whose present course is irreconcilable with his course in 1848 on any principle of integrity or political honesty known among men is worth just as much as that of any convicted criminal, and so more. It is the Chicago Tribune well remarks "a mere special plea," and alleges the real point at issue, viz: that in 1848 he strenuously advocated the prohibition of Slavery in all the Territories, and now he opposes such prohibition.

The statement of Mr. Bates, of Michigan, in regard to the proposed nomination of Col. Fremont for the Presidency, by the Democratic party, the N. Y. Tribune is authorized to say, has no other foundation than this:

"That gentlemen of influence and character in the Democratic party, of the South and North, desired to present the name of Col. Fremont to the Cincinnati Convention as a candidate for the Democratic nomination; and that Col. Fremont, anticipating correctly the platform and character of the nomination which that Convention would be compelled to make, did not favor in any manner the proposition. One of the most distinguished gentlemen who at first took part in putting forward Col. Fremont, soon decided, remarking to a Democratic ally that they might as well at once set down Fremont as a Black Republican."

What an effectual answer the above is to the Hunker lies that Col. Fremont is pro-slavery, and is not regarded fit for the office of President! He might have been the Democratic nominee for President, had he been willing, like Buchanan, to become the tool of the Slaveholders.

We wish no controversy with the Elkhorn Independent in regard to candidates for Congress. The Sentinel, Waukesha Republican and Whitewater Gazette coincided with us in indicating Judge Potter as its first choice. But this was before Mr. Holton was generally spoken of as a candidate, and when it was not believed that he would be a candidate. As we propose to do our best to help elect the candidate who shall be nominated next Thursday, we do not think a partisan discussion of the merits of either Judge Potter or Mr. Holton desirable or profitable. Either gentleman would do honor to the District, and would give general satisfaction. Let the delegates meet in the friendliest manner, compare notes, and select the best man for the crisis and the canvass, without respect to persons.

RICHMOND CITY.—This village in Richmond county, containing over 500 inhabitants, has 4 stores, 1 grocery, 2 drug stores, 4 doctors, 1 lawyer, 1 hardware store, 3 blacksmith shops, 1 watchmaker shop, 2 hotels, 2 shoe shops, 2 tailor shops, 1 saddle and harness shop, 1 land agency, 1 grist mill, 1 saw mill, 1 livery stable, 1 cabinet shop, 3 wagon shops, 1 academy, 1 brewery, and 4 boarding houses. As yet, it has no church, but regular meetings are held by the Congregational, Presbyterian and Methodist denominations.

Stricken.—The Oshkosh Courier of the 5th inst. says: A German boy named John Klabe, about seventeen years of age, committed suicide yesterday afternoon, by hanging himself in a small shed in the rear of the shoe shop of A. Koch, on the south side of the river. He was in the employ of Mr. Koch as an apprentice, and we are informed had become greatly dissatisfied with his situation, and not long since had either quit his place or attempted to do so, and had been sent back by his father.

Frost.—The Columbus Journal of the 4th inst. says: Several heavy frosts of late have done about finished the vines and corn, if any is yet unripe, for this season.

Disunion of the Union.
The following is an extract from a speech delivered in the House of Representatives on the 7th of August by Hon. Henry Winton Davis, of Maryland:

But there is a solemn fact which my Democratic friends admit. There is hostility at the North. They are ready to place the South between themselves and the right that has already snatched them to the earth. There is a wrath boiling up at the North, but it is a wrath which boils against them. There is hostility at the North—but it is a hostility which they have aroused, which has stricken them down and will keep them down.

I wish to feel the pulse of the North tonight. I wish to see whether it be reason or madness throbbing there—whether it be the rational wrath of men who believe they have been outraged in their dear old rights, or whether it be the madness of men who have flashed into fury capriciously.

Sir, there are a series of great facts which strike us wherever we turn our eyes. In 1853, the present incumbent of the Presidential chair was elected on the shields of twenty-seven States, and borne to the White House amid the acclamations of an exultant people, rejoicing in the advent of an era of peace.

Three years have run their course, and now where is the peace?—not where he came, but where he is, in a certain concentration of political wariness at the North.

When he ascended the chair of State, a great majority of seventy in this House obsequiously awaited his will. The sun had not three run his course yet that majority had shriveled to twenty-four men. Their place knows them no more. This circle of the chamber is a charnel-house of dead Democrats.

Sir, the fatal hour has come. Even while I speak, the stilet of Iowa brings to me a report of a disaster, crushed hopes and cruel disappointments. Their feet are already cold in the North, and as we feel upward and upward and upward towards their head in the South, all is cold as any stone.

Far different is my estimate of my Northern brethren. I am not aware of any act of the North, as they appear upon our statute books, or as executed from the Executive chamber, however wild may have been the votes occasionally of a majority upon this floor, or how they support what arguments pressed into their support, which in the slightest degree has sullied the honor or injured the interest of the South. They have differed upon industrial questions, and decided them by party feeling; they have been set, one party against the other, in party matters, party triumph, or party domination; but I say, that during the eighty years of the Republic, there is no portion of this great land which has risen to cast into the teeth of either the North or the South that any great right of either section has been trampled; any great right of the Constitution has been violated; any great fact showing that madness rules the majority either at the North or at the South.

Sir, is not that the reason? I do not ask gentlemen to tell me whether it is an adequate reason. I do not ask gentlemen to say if the North is reasonable in her anger. I simply ask gentlemen upon their candor and honor if that is not the reason of a existing condition of things? There is no gentleman here whose breast does not echo that lie. And I venture little when I say there is scarcely one of my Democratic friends who can appreciate the position in which it has placed the South, who does not, from the bottom of his heart, curse the day on which he was so misled. If they adhere to the party, Kansas, Nebraska act, it is from necessity, and not from choice; that my honorable friends, finding themselves at the bottom of the zone, have, like Cooper's sailor in the western lake, seized a raft to keep themselves there. It is from necessity and not from choice, that with a mill-stone around their necks, they march down to the water for a swimming match with light men having floats on.

Sir, the party whose policy, however well intended, has given occasion to stain the American name with civil blood by the repeal of the Missouri Compromise, is not likely to stand well with the men of the North, whose brethren have been the sufferers. Their denials of the outrages, their extenuations, their apologies, day after day, in this House, till the stupendous mass of the committee's evidence overwhelmed them; and their carrying cavils at that evidence—to my judgment yet unimpeached, and if so, of crushing weight—severely tends to approve the order of the Democratic party in North as its betrayers.

That is my opinion of the result of the Kansas investigation. I dare not impute perjury to men by the hundred; I cannot do so. I am myself convinced of the genuineness of the evidence; and it must be pardoned if my legal habits will not allow me to weigh particular denials against testimony sworn in the face of cross examination.

There are men who go about the country, declaiming about the inevitable consequences of the election of Fremont; and the question is asked, whether that simple fact is not sufficient to merely to justify, but to require a vindication of the Union. The question has been asked me to-day, and is a question which I do not regard as even a vulgar one of disunion. It never will be done while men have their reason. It never will be done until some party bent upon acquiring party power, shall again and again exasperate, beyond the reach of reason, the Northern and Southern minds, as my Southern friends have now exasperated the Northern mind. It would be an act of suicide, and one that does not commit suicide. The act itself is insanity. It will be done, if ever, in a spirit of fury and madness, which cannot stop to reason.

Disunion means death, the suicide of Liberty without a hope of resurrection—death without a hope of immortality; with no sister to mourn her fall, but to wrap her tenderly in a sepulchre—dead Liberty, with all the horrors of corruption, a loathsome thing, with a stake through the body, which men shun, and not naked on the highway of nations. Where the tyrants of earth who feared her living, will mock her dead, passing by on the other side, wailing their hands and thrusting their bows she that was fair among the nations is fallen, and only the few who men who loved her of every nation, will shed tears over her desolation as they pass, and cast handfuls of earth on her body to quiet her manes, while we, her children, stumble about her ruined habitations to find dishonorable graves wherein to hide our shame. Disunion! How shall it be?—and who shall make it? Do men dream of Lot and Abraham making, one to the East, and the other to the West, peacefully, because the servants strive that States will divide compass and chain line, that will be a partition, for cannon will be planted at the corners, and grinning skeletons will finger notes to point the way. It will be no no gently marked on the bosom of the Republic—some meandering vein whence generations of her children have drawn their nourishment—but a sharp and jagged channel, reeking the hearts of great Commonwealths, hecatombs and smeared with fratricidal blood. On the night when the stars of our constellation shall fall from heaven, the blackness of darkness forever will settle on the liberties of mankind in this Western World. This is disunion.

If such, sir, is disunion, as seen in a glass darkly, how terrible will be the face to face? They who talk of it do not mean it. They do not mean it. They who speak in earnest of disunion of this Union, seem to me like children of madmen. He who would do such a deed as that would be the maniac without the tongue to tell his deed, or reason to arrest his steps—an instrument of mad impulse, impelled by one idea to smite his victim. Sir, there have been maniacs who have been cured by horror at the blood they have shed.

Gentlemen ask, if Mr. Fremont be elected, how will Maryland go? What will Maryland do? I do not allow that question to be asked. She knows but one country and one Union. Her glory is in it. Her rights are bound up in it. Her children shed their blood for it, and they will do it again. Beyond it she knows nothing. She does not reckon whether there is more advantage in the Union to the North or South—she does not calculate its value—nor does she cast up an account of profit and loss on the blood of her children. That is his answer to the question.

But Sirs! it not portions to hear the men of a party contesting for the Presidency, menace disunion and revolution, and the penalty they will inflict on the victor for failing to follow them? People who do not hold the Union worth four years deprivation of office, are scarcely safe depositaries of its powers."

A New Light.
The Beaver Dam Sentinel says:
"That Southern citizens, claim, and have the right to go into Kansas with their slaves is true."

By the annexed quotations from Judge McLean, of the Supreme Court and Henry Clay, it will be seen that they do not agree with this modern "exponser of the constitution," who "enlightens the people through the columns of the Beaver Dam Sentinel."

In a letter dated July 25th 1849 Judge McLean says:

"Resting upon the principles of the Constitution, as they have been judicially settled, the two States by moderation, vigilance and fairness, may prevent the extension of slavery to free Territory lately annexed. Without the sanction of law, slavery can no more exist in a Territory than a man breathe without air. Slavery is not property where they are not made so by the municipal laws. The Legislature of a Territory can exercise no power which is not conferred on it by an act of Congress."

In 1850 Henry Clay said:
"You cannot put your finger on any part of the Constitution which conveys the right of Congress to carry slaves from one of the States to the other, or to any territory of the United States. Nor, sir, I admit for a single moment, that there is any separate or distinct right upon the part of States, or individuals of the States, or any portion of the people of the United States, to carry slaves into Territories, under the idea that those Territories are held in common between the several States."

As the opinion of the editor of the Sentinel of a later date and is given after having the benefit of the Cincinnati Platform, it may possibly be considered to have more weight than the opinions of McLean and Clay, given six or seven years ago.

ASSEMBLY.—THE LAND GRANT.—By Mr. Chappell—a memorial from the Milwaukee and Watertown R. R. Co., proposing to construct the lines of railway proposed in the act of Congress granting lands to this State, building both from Madison and Columbus to Portage City. The memorialists propose an increase of capital stock to $10,000,000, and the Legislature donate the lands granted to the State to the said company, under proper restrictions. Referred.

Adjourned till 3 o'clock P. M., on Monday.

BUCHANAN STOCK IN COLUMBIA CO.—A subscriber writing us from Randolph Centre Columbia Co., says: You may put the town of Randolph down as all right for Fremont and Dayton. Old Dick is scarcely known here and if he has any friends, they are ashamed to own him.

ANOTHER RECRUIT.—The Madison Journal says:—Theodore Bernhard, Esq., of Watertown, whose graceful and earnest oratory called out so many compliments when a member of the Assembly, during the session of 1855, is out for Fremont and Dayton. He is announced to address the Germans at the County Mass Meeting in Jefferson County, on the 11th inst.

KNIGHT COMMANDER OF BATH.—It is stated that the rank of Knight Commander of the Bath is about to be bestowed upon Mr. Crampton, late British Minister at Washington, and that the next official Gazette will probably contain the appropriate announcement. It is understood that this honor is conferred by the special desire of the Queen.

RECEPTION OF MR. BANKS AT WORCESTER.—Speaker Banks was welcomed at Worcester, Massachusetts, on the 6th inst., by several thousand citizens. He was addressed by Hon. Henry W. Chapin in behalf of the committee, and responded in a brief and appropriate speech.

STUCK BY LIGHTNING.—During the storm Saturday forenoon, the house of S. Bullen, three miles north of Kenosha was struck by lightning, and Mrs. Bullen was instantly killed, and Mr. Bullen was seriously, though it was hoped not mortally injured.

THE WAUTOMA JOURNAL.—This is the title of a neat and spicy sheet, published by J. A. Allen & Co., at Wautoma, Waukesha Co. It is independent, but favors the election of Fremont.

A PIANO FORT MANUFACTORY BURNED.—A most calamitous fire has happened in London, burning down the immense premises of Messrs. Broadwood, the celebrated manufacturers of piano fortes. The premises covered three acres of ground, and the loss is computed at £150,000, ($724,000). About one thousand instruments, some finished, others in various stages of forwardness, were destroyed.

ANOTHER LABORER IN THE FIELD.—The Sheboygan Times says that a German Republican paper is about to be issued from the office of the Neuesheide, in that city. It is to be called the Sheboygan Zeitung, and is issued for the city and county. Mr. Quintus is the publisher, and it is to be edited by gentlemen of ability, who are warm friends of the Republican cause.

FREMONT FLAG.—We notice a beautiful flag floating to the breeze from the Sentinel office, on which are inscribed, FREMONT & DAYTON, Free Press, Free Speech, Free Soil and Free Labor.

KANSAS.—By the news which we publish to-day, it will be seen that the President has instructed Gov. Geary to enroll the militia of the Territory, and call on the Governors of Illinois and Kentucky for troops to enforce the Bogue Laws of Kansas—which Clayton, Houston, Weller and Cass denounced as an outrage upon civilization—and to put down the Free State men. It will kill Buchanan and elect Fremont, but it is a bloody sacrifice.

THE fall term of the State University, will open on the 17th inst.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Mr. John Williams, a cabinet maker, and highly esteemed citizen of Columbus, died very suddenly on Tuesday last. He had for sometime suffered from ague, but was not thought to be dangerously ill.

JEFFERSON COUNTY.—A Fremont meeting is to be held at Jefferson, Thursday, the 11th inst., at which Messrs. Schurz and Theodore Bernhard and others will address the meeting in German, and Messrs. John E. Holmes, C. G. Williams, L. P. Harvey, Charles Billingshurst, and others in English.

THE Richmond, Va. Enquirer says:—The South cannot rely on the mere Constitutional guarantee of Slavery, for such reliance is pregnant with the admission that Slavery is wrong.
